FENWICK SCHOLAR PROGRAM (2014)
Instructions for Application

The candidate should submit a narrative that includes full information about the following items:

1. Project title.

2. Description of the project. This includes a statement of the problem, the method of analysis, a review of relevant literature and – if appropriate – the grounding hypothesis and feasibility.

3. Detailed budget and evidence of financial feasibility within the maximum allowable stipend. (Ordinarily, up to $4,000 may be awarded to carry out the Fenwick Program.)

4. Study Plan with goals and timelines.

5. Course preparation for the project.

6. Expected benefits from the Fenwick year.

This application should be accompanied by:

1. Fenwick Cover Sheet with signatures.

2. A research essay, lab report, or other substantive example of the applicant’s work. This should be a paper or written project that is relevant to the field of the proposed Fenwick research, and that illustrates the candidate’s writing ability and previous work in the area.

3. An unofficial transcript.

You should also arrange for the following letters to be sent to Prof. Suzanne Kirschner, Director of College Scholar Programs (collegescholars@holycross.edu) by the deadline:

4. Supporting letter(s) from the advisor(s) and reader(s) of your project.

5. A supporting letter from the nominating department chair or chairs, in the case of double majors, who are seeking credit for the Fenwick project that would count towards both majors.

This year’s due date for Department nominations is Monday, February 17, 2014. The due date for completed Fenwick proposals is Friday, April 4. All materials should be sent to Prof. Suzanne Kirschner at collegescholars@holycross.edu. On-campus interviews and teleconference interviews for students abroad will be held in April.
