BROWN TAKES PURPLE NINE IN FIRST DEFEAT

Varsity Drops First Game Since Renewed Relations by 4-1 Score

GURNEY'S TWO TRIPLES SPELL BROWN VICTORY

Billings, in Fine Form, Allowed Only Three Hits to Purple

The mystifying slants of Billings, sophomore pitcher of Brown University, coupled with two timely triples by his battery-mate, Gurney, were the contributing elements in send the Crusaders down to their first defeat of the season by a score of 4-1 last Saturday afternoon at Aldrich Field, before a gathering of about 3,000.

The game marked the resumption of baseball relations with Brown after a lapse of eight years, as well as the passing of the Purple from the rapidly narrowing class of unbeaten teams.

Billings displayed the same brand of hurling that recently took the Providence club of the Eastern League into camp, and the Crusader batsmen were unable to collect more than three hits for their afternoon's efforts. Al Fons was not handing out hits any too freely, allowing but six in the seven innings he pitched, but Gurney seemed determined to gather a few runs for his Alma Mater, and would not be denied.

The Bruins got their first brace of runs in the second inning. Heffernan, first man up, walked and scored on the first of Gurney's triples. Billings grounded out to Fons, and Harrell made a snappy assist on Randall's roller, retiring him and holding Gurney at third. On the next play, however, Harrell threw wild to first after stopping Wright's drive and Gurney scored.

Brown sewed up the ball game completely in the next inning when Parker and Heffernan singled with two out and both came in on Gurney's second triple.

Both of Gurney's drives were mis-played by Con Hurley, but it is doubtful whether either of them could have been converted into putouts, although they might have resulted in doubles had they been judged properly.

The Purple's one run came in the fourth inning when Cahill stretched a left field drive into a double, advanced to third on a poor fielder's choice by Billings, and hit the dirt to score on McEntee's short sacrifice fly to left field.

Cervini Chosen Prefect at B. V. M. Sodality Elections

The annual election of officers for the Blessed Virgin Sodality was held at the regular weekly meeting, last night. Rev. John J. Colligan, S.J., the moderator of the society, announced as candidates for the office of prefect, August P. Cervini, '28; D. Francis Healy, '28; Thomas Fitzpatrick, '28; and Harold Moran, '28; for assistant prefects, Richard Buckley, '29; Joseph Eagan, '29; Richard Powers, '29; John R. Smith, '29; and Paul C. Downs, '29; for secretary, Richard J. Reilly, '30; Francis X. Walsh, '30; and Irving J. Kirschbaum, '30.

In the election which followed, Cervini was chosen prefect; Buckley and Downs, assistant prefects; and Reilly, secretary. The moderator also announced that the reception of one hundred and ten new members into the society would be held next Monday evening in the Memorial Chapel.

VON KERSBERG GIVES VOCATIONAL TALK

Macy Official Reviews Retail Merchandising Business

The first of the vocational lectures for the sophomore class was delivered on last Friday in Fenwick Hall. Mr. Harry von Kersberg, Director of the Personnel Bureau of R. H. Macy and Company was the lecturer. In his introduction Mr. von Kersberg recalled the happy associations which he made at the College during his service as football coach in 1913.

Mr. von Kersberg pointed out the requirements for a business career as being a well trained mind and the readiness to work. The history of the Department was interestingly traced from the days of Stuart and Wanamaker to the present day of the Macy enterprise, which last year did business to the extent of $75,000,000. A short outline of the organization of Macy workers was given. The lecture conclusively proved that in the business world represented by trade organizations there is a need of the college trained man and woman.

GOLF TEAM DEFEATS BROWN IN OPENER 5-4

The golf team scored a win in its first match of the season on Saturday when it defeated Brown, 5 points to 4, over the Wannamoisett Country Club course at Providence. The Cross gained its points by winning three singles matches and two of the three foresomes; while Brown took the same number of singles, but was able to secure only the first foresome.

Captain Edward O'Brien, '27, showed his true worth in the feature match of the play when he forced Roland Mackenzie, the Brown captain, to extend himself to finally win 2 and 1. Mackenzie is one of the leading amateurs in the United States, and last year was a member of the Walker Cup team which represented this country in British play.

That the Brown captain would ultimately win was taken for granted long before the match even started; but that he would be so forced by O'Brien came as a pleasant surprise to the team from the Cross. At the turn O'Brien had a brilliant 38, but Mackenzie was one under par with a 34. The next nine showed the Purple captain one under his opponent with a 39 for the homeward route.

The cards:

Mackenzie	3	5	3	3	4	3	4	4	5	—	34
	4	4	4	6	4	4	5	5	4	—	40
O'Brien	4	5	3	5	4	5	4	4	4	—	38
	4	5	3	4	5	4	4	6	4	—	39

Neal Fitzgerald lost to Horace Partridge of Brown on the last green; both cards handed in were 81s. Franzoni, a freshman addition to the Cross team, lost his match on the 17th green to Eynon of Brown. Frank

SOCCER EQUIPMENT IS READY AT A. A. OFFICE

It has been announced by Graduate Manager of Athletics Paul McEvoy, that soccer balls are procurable at the Athletic Association office by those wishing to play. There will be no official cognizance taken of the sport this term, but in the fall if there is sufficient interest shown, it is possible that an interclass league may be formed and someone appointed to supervise the arranging of a schedule.

COLLEGE HOST TO CLASSICAL ASSOCIATION

Twenty-Second Annual Convention Held Here on April 22 and 23

The twenty-second annual convention of the New England Classical Association was held at the College on Friday and Saturday, April 22 and 23. About 300 members of the Association were in attendance in addition to many local educators and visitors. The meeting consisted of several informal sessions with illustrated lectures by members of the Association and a series of open forum discussions. The lectures were all held in Fenwick Hall and the convention headquarters were located in the O'Kane building.

At the election of officers held Friday morning, Miss Laura K. Pettigell of the Latin School of Portland, Me., was chosen president of the Association. Rev. Francis X. Downey, S.J., Dean of the College, was elected vice-president. The other officers chosen were: secretary-treasurer, Dr. Maurice N. Wetmore, of Williams College; acting secretary-treasurer 1927-28, John S. Galbraith, of Williams College.

The next annual meeting of the Association will be held in April of 1928 at Deerfield Academy, Deerfield, Mass.

The convention opened at 10 o'clock Friday morning in Fenwick with an address of welcome to the delegates by Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S.J., president of the College. Prof. Julia H. Caverno, president, then responded.

Prof. Eunice Work of the Latin and Greek department of Wheaton College gave the first lecture "Latin Textbooks of the Past." Following Miss Work's paper, Rev. Francis X. Downey, S.J., talked on "This Problem of Work," during which he discussed the numerous problems of school work confronting the modern teacher. Then followed the reports of committees, convention business and election of officers.

After luncheon, served in the college refectory at 1 o'clock, Prof. Lewis B. Paton of Hartford Theological Seminary presented an illustrated lecture on "Graeco-Roman Remains in Syria." "Readings from Horace,"

NEXUS CLUB HEARS TALK ON RETAILING

Mr. Francis J. Krim, ex-'01, delivered a lecture before the Nexus Club on the evening of April 8, pertinent to the problems and prospects of the retailer. His subject was "Retailing as a Profession."

Mr. Krim, who is a dye manufacturer from Mattapan, Mass., gave an interesting survey of the retail field and excerpts from his talk follow:

"The merchant's responsibilities are twofold: first, to the public and, second, to his employees. A high standard of ethics in these respects has been found to serve the retailer best.

"No other form of business activity touches the general public to the extent that retailing does. Every individual must obtain some, at least, of his requirements through the medium of the retail store. Because of this continuous dependence of the public, a serious obligation rests upon retailers to distribute the necessaries and luxuries of life to their commu-

JUNIOR PROM FRIDAY EVENING AT BANCROFT

Special Program Arranged For Gala Week-End

The Bancroft Hotel ballroom will be the scene of the Junior Promenade next Friday evening when Jacques Renard and his eleven-piece orchestra from the Lido Venice Cafe in Boston will furnish syncopation for the greatest event in the list of activities scheduled for a particularly interesting week-end.

The program of events will commence with a tennis match on the College courts when the Purple racket wielders will meet the Springfield. In the evening the Prom will be held from 9-2 with an intermission at midnight. On Saturday afternoon the Fordham baseball team will engage the Crusaders in what promises to be a very interesting game. Novelties in the line of favors which have been kept secret will be distributed in Freshman A classroom on Thursday and Friday afternoons from 3 until 5 to all those presenting Prom tickets. The chairman, John J. Johnson has made arrangements with the Athletic Association so that a special section of the grandstand

JOHN McCORMACK GIVES CONCERT FOR COLLEGE

To mark the tenth anniversary of the awarding of the degree which made him an honorary alumnus of Holy Cross, John McCormack appeared in a concert given for the benefit of the building fund on Easter Sunday night in Carnegie Hall, New York. The concert was given under the auspices of the Alumni Association of New York, and was personally directed by Mr. D. F. McSweeney. Jean Bedetti, 'cellist; George H. Gartlan, organist; and Edwin Schneider, accompanist, were the artists assisting Mr. McCormack.

Mr. McCormack's program was of a varied nature, the numbers ranging from the solemnity of Handel and Brahms to the winsomeness of the modern composers. The most outstanding number of the evening was the Panis Angelicus of Franck, which Mr. McCormack sang to the accompaniment of piano, cello, and organ. This number evoked so much applause that Mr. McCormack repeated it as an encore. A group of Irish folk-songs, among which were "The Meeting of the Waters," and "Kathleen Mavourneen," aroused great enthusiasm on the part of the audience, which filled Carnegie Hall to capacity.

In his final group, which included "A May Day Carol," by Deems Taylor, contemporary composer, and "Thanks Be to God," by Stanley Dickson, Mr. McCormack displayed more than ever his remarkable range of tone, clarity of diction and smooth mellowness of voice. So entranced were his hearers that he was forced to take three encores.

RAILROAD MAN WILL LECTURE HERE MAY 10

John M. Fitzgerald, former president of the Western Maryland Railway Company, will give a vocational talk at the College on the afternoon of Tuesday, May 10. The talk will be under the auspices of the Economics Department.

Mr. Fitzgerald speaks from a railroad experience of over thirty years, during which time he has held executive positions with many of the largest roads in the southwest. The speaker was secured through the Committee on Public Relations of the Eastern Railroads.

DEBATE TEAM WINS DECISION OVER ST. VIATOR'S

Visitors From Bourbonnais, Ill. Are on Extended Eastern Tour

SECOND VICTORY FOR HOLY CROSS TEAM

Defended Negative of Question On Uniform Marriage and Divorce Laws

Representatives of St. Viator's College, Bourbonnais, Illinois, were defeated by the Varsity debating team of the College last Thursday evening at Classical High School. The decision of the judges was 2-1 in favor of the negative on the question which read, "Resolved: That the United States Should Adopt a Uniform Marriage and Divorce Law."

The winning Holy Cross team was composed of Edward M. McEntee, '28, Providence; Edward A. O'Rourke, '29, New York; Maurice E. McLoughlin, Jr., '28, Brooklyn. The St. Viator College speakers were John W. Stafford, Bourbonnais, Ill.; James T. Connor, Prairie du Chien, Wis.; and James A. Nolan, Rockford, Ill. The debate was one of an extended eastern tour being made by the St. Viator College team, which enjoys a high reputation in intercollegiate debating circles.

The debate judges were Atty. Frank B. Hall, Clinton P. Rowe, and Atty. Charles B. Rugg. The reception committee was composed of Francis J. Power, '27, chairman; Joseph J. Cooney, '27; and Thomas P. Shaughnessy, '27, all of Worcester, Mass.

The visitors based their arguments, in the main, upon the legal difficulties prevalent throughout the country because of the diversity of legislation on marriage and divorce. Their first speaker developed this point at length, showing how the rulings of one state were not recognized by other states which involved the divorced and his issue in a maze of legal technicalities which run the gamut of charges of adultery and bigamy for the contracting parties, and illegitimacy for their offspring.

Freshmen Rout Brown Yearlings 21-0 at Home

The freshmen took some of the sting out of the Varsity's defeat by thoroughly trouncing the Brown Cubs by a score of 21-0. Frank Nekola toed the mound for Jack Reed's charges and proved himself an excellent bear tamer. He easily silenced the roar of the bats that sent Wentworth, and M. I. T. freshmen down to defeat, and while he was toying with the invaders from Providence, his teammates belted the offerings of Russell and Linghan to all corners of Fitton Field. In the second canto, they fell upon Russell and bombarded him for eleven runs, and he gave way to Linghan.

A large crowd turned out to see the inaugural game of the 1930 team and went away elated with the work of the team that will contribute its mainstays to the Varsity next year. Jimmy Shevlin, sterling first sacker, was named captain before the game, and then showed Jack Reed that the trust he placed in him was deserved by rapping out two doubles and two singles in six trips to the plate. Frank McCarron, who patrols centerfield, showed great hitting ability, driving

The Annual Change

As this issue of THE TOMAHAWK goes to press, the nineteen seniors on the staff will have ended their careers as collegiate publishers to make way for the men who are to guide the paper through a new era.

Whatever has occurred at the College, among the Alumni and among the friends of Holy Cross has been faithfully chronicled in these pages, together with all views of such a nature as would interest those related to the College.

At times the caustic nature of criticism has been discouraging, yet the staff has constantly considered seriously every comment of the Faculty, undergraduates and alumni.

Above all, however, we feel gratitude for the co-operation of those who have aided and encouraged us in the undertaking of a semi-weekly.

To our successors we give our best wishes and our watchword, "Holy Cross." We are confident that they are capable, and leave them with the reminder that while they will labor hard amid discouraging criticism there awaits them at the end of their service that which is ineffably sweeter than human praise—the realization of work well done.

Student Conferences

The New York Student Conference was held recently in New York City. It is a group, primarily of undergraduates, who gather now and then to discuss things. We make no specific mention of what they do talk about, for to us it seems they cover every conceivable subject.

Their first two aims are laudable, although rather indefinite, and we can leave each one to his own choice as to their meaning.

By working values do they intend to run the state and individuals in a machine-like, mathematical way? A group of students undoubtedly could solve world problems merely with a "roundtable" discussion.

We suspect these Student Conferences, because invariably, if we read a few lines further we find that an expert presided over each meeting.

However, we can almost disregard this third purpose; but the fourth aim cannot be overlooked, "To promote intelligent and friendly understanding between races, religions and classes."

A professor in a sectarian college decides to test all religions by having members of the more prominent sects address his Bible class.

To what definite purpose are these movements guided? Is it possible for a student, whose avowed intention is to assimilate facts, to revolutionize industry, the established arts, politics, even religion, in a single sweep?

Communications

Attention Is Called To the Library As Source of Information

To the Editor, THE TOMAHAWK:

We all have seen a copy of the recent publication, "Ask Me Another." All of us know the wide range of subjects which the questions in this book cover. Each one of us has heard at some time or other, something about each one of these subjects, and likewise we have either seen or heard something relative to each specific question.

After brief, but discriminating deliberation, not one of us denies the fact that Our Library is the sole possessor of these facilities, the institution inside whose gates lie the ever-living and perpetually workable mines of invaluable information, both historical and current, the one and only laboratory that puts at our disposal all the materials for an exhaustive and unhindered research on things in relation, and the lone custodian of the keys to a complete and thorough college education.

What question can our "Ask Me Another" books and newspaper lists put to us that we cannot quickly and accurately answer, by merely consulting the resources of Our Library? What seemingly intricate problem reasonably exists which cannot be solved by making use of Our Library aids? To be practical, what course of our college curricula can truthfully lay claim to the ability to live and continue to live, without the Library as an auxiliary?

For freshman, sophomore, junior and senior alike, the opportunity and responsibility present themselves on the same equal plane.

The book, periodical and newspaper collections are adapted and arranged in perfect accord with our needs, the study and research facilities are combined in most congruous relation, the staff is trained to our desires and hopes, and the browsing collection contains more reading material than we can hope to make use of for all the remaining leisure hours of our lives.

The complete answer is at our beck and call, and the Library throws down the challenge to us in asking "Ask Me Another." Can we do it? W. T. O'R.

Club Notes

METROPOLITAN CLUB

Four hundred couples attended the first annual dance of the newly formed Metropolitan Club, held at the Biltmore Hotel, Easter Monday evening.

The music was furnished by George Olsen's orchestra, and the famous George Olsen trio sang several popular selections. The ballroom was appropriately decorated with the colors of the club, and College banners were draped from the balcony surrounding the dance floor.

Among the eighty patrons for the affair were Hon. Alfred E. Smith, Governor of New York; Hon. Alvan T. Fuller, Governor of Massachusetts; Hon. James J. Walker, Mayor of New York; Baroness Catherine de Hueck of Russia; Hon. David I. Walsh, '93, Senator from Massachusetts; and Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S.J., President of the College.

"At last I've got the goods on you," cried the man as he recognized his shirt on a fraternity brother.—Ohio Northern Review.

Collegiate Comment

"Not a single case of academic dishonesty," was the report made by the honor board of Barnard University in the Barnard Bulletin, concerning the recent examination period.

While the senior class of a prominent New Haven University were polling a heavy, almost unanimous, vote as to the uselessness of psychology as a study, wide-awake students of a prominent institution of the Southwest, the Western State College of Gunnison, Col., to wit, were making a survey in genetic psychology which developed astounding information.

Thirteen fraternity pledges at the University of Kansas were arrested for pranks in which they were indulging in connection with their "hell week" initiation. Dean Dawson of the university has announced that fraternities must take steps to prevent the recurrence of such events.

Sophomores in Berkeley, California, decided at a "mystery meeting" a short time ago that they will not use razors for the twenty-nine days preceding Sophomore Labor Day.

Princeton University having banned the use of autos by students, one student propelled his girl to the prom in a buggy, a mode of travel which bids fair to become common on that campus.

Because the swimming pool has been out of order all winter, co-eds at Ohio State are taking their swimming lessons on a hardwood floor.

Alumni Notes

Class of 1885

Word has been received at the College of the recent death of Rev. Thomas R. Carty, pastor of the Church of St. Francis de Sales at Bennington, Vt. Father Carty's death is a severe blow to the alumni of Vermont, for he was numbered among their most active members.

N.E.I.N.A. HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING AT VERMONT

College Rejoins; Tomahawk Represented by Connor and Kimball

The third annual conference of the New England Intercollegiate Newspaper Association opened last Friday at the University of Vermont college of medicine building with representatives from seven colleges and universities in New England in attendance.

Charles A. R. Connor, 2d, '27, editor-in-chief, and Arthur B. Kimball, '27, advertising manager, represented THE TOMAHAWK. Holy Cross was voted back in the association, after a lapse of one year. THE TOMAHAWK is a charter member of the association.

The program during the first day of the two-day conference consisted of registration in the morning, a luncheon at the Hotel Vermont, editorial and business sessions during the afternoon at the medical college and a banquet at the Hotel Vermont in the evening.

Walter H. Crockett, head of the University of Vermont journalism department, extended a welcome to the delegates, after which the conference divided in two sessions, the editorial and business meetings. Thomas C. Heffernan, student president of the association from Boston College, presided at the editorial meeting.

Speakers during the editorial meeting included the following: Richard Husband of Norwich, "Feature Writing;" Herbert D. Crandall, University of Vermont, "Policy of a College Newspaper;" Victor J. Newton of Boston College, "Use of Cuts;" John Flemming, University of New Hampshire, "Policy of Headline Writing;" Alfred Cleveland, Connecticut Agricultural College, "Publishing an Issue When News is Short."

At the meeting for the business managers, Norman A. Steele of Boston College spoke on the "Advisability of Adopting a Budget System." Other talks were given by George Webb of the University of New Hampshire, "Best Methods of Handling Circulation by Student Organizations;" Frank Carey, Boston College, and Arthur Kimball, Holy Cross, both speaking on "Advertising Rates and Problems in Connection With Advertising Agencies;" and John C. Fieneran of Connecticut Agricultural College on "Problems in Connection With Alumni and Undergraduate Publications on the Same Campus."

At the banquet given for the delegates by the University of Vermont at the Hotel Vermont, President Guy W. Bailey of the University, presided. Speakers at the dinner were John L. Southwick, editor of the Burlington Free Press; Professor Robert M. Neal of Norwich, spoke on problems in connection with university publications, and Walter H. Crockett of the University of Vermont, who talked on some of the ideals of college journalism. Besides the delegates, members of the Boulder Club, senior honorary society, attended the banquet.

At the final meeting of the convention on Saturday morning officers were elected for the coming year. Harry Hilton of Norwich was unanimously elected president. Victor Newton of Boston College was chosen vice-president, and Louis Lorenzo of Norwich, secretary-treasurer. The following were elected to head the various committees: George Webb of New out a triple, a double, and a single. The double, which was a drive past the cinder track was in reality a home run, but in his haste to reach the plate, "Mac" failed to touch third base.

The freshmen started right in on Russell and tallied four runs in the first, and in the second they bid him farewell after eleven men had crossed the plate, and all but two had batted twice. Linghan fared much better, allowing six runs. The frosh played superb ball behind the great exhibition of pitching skill manifested by Nekola, and there is no reason in the world why the freshmen cannot enjoy an undefeated season.

Hampshire, chairman of service committee; Charles Harwood of Vermont, chairman of membership committee, and Eric Erickson of Northeastern, chairman of the business committee. On the invitation of John Cleveland of Connecticut Agricultural College the association will meet there next spring.

Several resolutions were adopted by the editorial members, the chief of which is, that each member paper of the association will send to other member papers clippings of its two leading news stories and its leading editorial each week. It was also resolved that the various editors write to the president of the association once a month and the president will circularize a news letter to all the papers containing a digest of these various letters. It was also decided to institute a drive for membership among the various colleges of New England.

The business meeting voted to adopt several resolutions regarding advertising as suggested by Arthur Kimball. The most important of these were the triple-check system of advertising and also the flag index system, both of which are now used by THE TOMAHAWK.

HOLY CROSS SHUTS OUT VERMONT IN SLOW GAME

Davidson Hurls Two-Hit Tilt As Purple Wins, 9-0

Holy Cross gained the college leadership when she still remained undefeated, and ran her string of victories up to six by whitewashing Vermont, 9-0. Davidson had another big day, silencing the Vermont batteries with two hits, and fanning eight batsmen.

The Crusaders gained a big lead in the first inning. Conway fumbled Harrell's tap, Tagg hit Wise, and Smith threw wildly to home on Savage's sacrifice, both runners scoring. Dovens and Doherty were passed, and McEntee got a cheesy single when Prentice failed to cover the bag on the hit to Smith, Savage and Dovens scoring.

In the third Dovens singled, Doherty fanned, McEntee singled, and both men tallied on Hurley's smash over third base. Hurley stole second and ambled to the hot corner on a wild pitch. Cahill walked and went to second when Davidson also was given a complimentary to first. Harrell rolled a pretty bunt towards first base, and Hurley and Cahill, who got an early start from second, both scored before Tagg recovered the teasing bunt.

Fons Yields Seven Hits In As Many Innings—Davidson Gives One

Cahill's double was followed by Savage being walked, and Billings passed up an easy chance for a force out at third on Dovens' roller which he elected to play to first.

Jim Davidson replaced Fons in the eighth after Morris had pinch-hit for the latter, and allowed one hit.

Billings retired the Crusaders in order in five innings and struck out ten. Schuster and Parker showed particularly well in the Brown defense, the latter making three putouts unassisted in the fifth inning.

Harrell, Cahill and Dovens were the outstanding Crusaders in the fielding line, Dovens making the only double play of the afternoon when he nipped Edes off first after palming Scribner's liner.

ST. VIATOR DEBATERS LOSE TO VARSITY MEN

The second speaker presented uniformity of legislation by means of Constitutional enactment as a solution for this complex and embarrassing situation; and further made a plea for uniformity in such legislation that it might correspond to the uniformity of the moral law upon which it should be based.

The last speaker for the affirmative, following the Oxford system more closely than did his colleagues, devoted himself to rebuttal matter and to attacking the objection to the proposed uniformity which is always brought out by the advocates of states' rights. In this regard he held that the benefit to the common good derived from such uniformity would and should counterbalance any such infringements.

The negative argument was, in general, based upon moral objections and upon the dangers of violating states' rights and amending the Constitution for a social experiment. The first speaker established divorce as the issue of paramount importance as contrasted to marriage; showed how concurrent action of the states was not feasible without a Constitutional amendment; and finally showed how, in a country as large as the United States, economic, social and climatic conditions made a divergency of such marriage legislation an unavoidable necessity.

The second speaker, taking the moral aspect of the proposed uniformity, pointed out that divorce was a recognized evil and as such should be suppressed. But in making the laws uniform the mean that would have to be struck would be laxer than that now in force under state jurisdiction and that therefore such uniformity is unadvisable. He also pointed out the danger of constitutionally recognizing divorce.

The last argument was based on the rights of states and the integrity of the Constitution as the safeguard of American democracy. Such personal problems as divorce have ever been under state jurisdiction and the yielding of such powers to the Federal government would radically and dangerously centralize governmental power to the detriment of the sovereignty of the states. The resultant evils of so amending the Constitution in the case of prohibition were sketched and the similar dangers outlined of again permitting Federal legislation on personal matters.

The rebuttals, though spirited, added but little to the original arguments and proved mainly a reassertion of principles brought out in the main speeches.

Fourteen minutes was allowed for each main speech and five for rebuttal. The College orchestra played several selections during the pause between speeches and rebuttal. The audience numbered fifty-five, exclusive of the men on the platform.

This was the second public debate of the year: Marquette University was defeated in the same hall early in February.

Varsity Relay Team Places Second To Syracuse at Annual Penn Relays

The Crusader relay team furnished the best race of the Penn Relay Carnival when they came second to the speedy Syracuse quartet at the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday.

Holy Cross drew the fifth position from the pole with Yale first and Syracuse second. Maher, the Purple lead-off man jumped the starters and lead all the way on the first leg of the relay handing a lead to Durkin, who ran against Proudlock and dropped five yards to the Syracuse star. Unfortunately Barbuti was Hurley's opponent in this first race for the Purple, and he gained about eight yards on the valiant Crusader handing Cecil Cooke, the dusky Orange anchor man that much advantage over Capt. Frank Burns and Burgess of Georgetown. This was the most exciting relay of them all, both Burns and Burgess started to make up the distance between them and the flying Cooke and there was but two yards separating Burns and Cooke and no more than six inches between Burgess and Burns.

The final spurt completely exhausted Burns, who dropped as he crossed the line. A wet track slowed down the time for Syracuse to 3.23 3-5.

Varsity Has Successful Southern Trip

The 1927 Crusader nine got off to a winning start when they showered Randolph-Macon for 19 hits and 21 runs, while Doherty held them to 5 hits and 5 counters. The newest Barry baseball product looked like a great team both afield and with the willow, including a four-ply wallop by Doherty. Harrell, Savage and Dohens smacked the horsehide often and in all directions.

The first inning netted four runs on singles by Harrell, Savage and Dohens, a sacrifice by Wise, and the circuit clout of Doherty. The batting continued in the next inning when six men counted. Harrell doubled, Savage, Dohens and Doherty singled, which rolled up six runs when the southern infield booted three balls. Wise tripled with the sacks loaded in the fourth. Randolph-Macon scored four runs in the seventh when Dohens loosened up on three hits.

The following Tuesday the Crusaders met keener competition from William and Mary College, and although outhit 7 to 5, they trimmed the Green and Gold by a 6-1 score. Davidson hurled a steady game, keeping the hits well scattered. The big moundsman looked in condition for a great season. Six bases were pilfered by the Purple, also executing a double squeeze play in the sixth, when Lowery and McEntee scored on Cahill's bunt. This took the heart out of the home team.

McEntee counted first when he was hit by a pitched ball, went to second on a passed ball, stole third, and reached home on Cahill's single. In the sixth Lowery got to third on a walk and a passed ball, while McEntee reached second after arriving at first safely on Thompson's error. Before Stichel unloosed the next pitch, McEntee was almost at third, and scored with Lowery on a perfect bunt by Cahill.

Two more men tallied in the seventh to further clinch the game. Harrell walked and advanced on a passed ball. Wise was safe on Stichel's error and soon stole second. Lowery brought both runners home on a hot single to center.

In scoring their third successive victory, Holy Cross trampled over Catholic University, 12-1, while Fons held the Cardinals to three hits. The Crusaders showered the diamond with 17 safe hits, every man in the lineup getting at least one hit, while Doherty and Savage clouted home runs. The southerners didn't get their first hit until the eighth inning, and used three pitchers to stem the flood of hits rattling off Crusader bats.

The lid blew off in the fourth inning when three pitchers came to a big party of seven runs and only one of them lasted through it. Hurley, Cahill, Fons, Harrell and Wise singled in succession, scoring four runs. Wise scored when Mansfield led Savage's long fly go through his hands. Dohens scored Savage with a screaming triple, and counted himself on Doherty's single.

C. U. tallied their lone run when Smith walked, Mansfield was hit by Fons, and Long blasted a single between third and short to bring home Smith.

Two days after the C. U. game, the Crusaders tackled the dangerous Georgetown nine, and emerged with a 6-4 win, when a Blue and Gray rally in the ninth fell short by two runs. Davidson was in rare form, allowing only two hits up until the ninth, and retired the opposition in order six out of the nine innings.

The Crusaders blew themselves to five runs in the second inning on four hits. McEntee walked, Hurley singled, Cahill and Davidson punched the breezes. Harrell singled, scoring McEntee, and took second as Hurley went to third on the throw to the plate. Both men scored on Wise's single, who took himself to second on the throw in. Savage also reached second and scored Wise on a whistling single past third. The fifth run was brought in by Savage on a fourth single by Dohens.

Georgetown threatened in the ninth when Burch and McLean singled. Odium forced McLean at second. Burch tallied on a single by Graham, and three more runs trickled across the platter when O'Neil smashed out a home run.

Holy Cross made it five straight at the expense of Dartmouth on Patriots' Day by 3-0, when Fons gave the visitors only three hits, and his mates hit timely. Dartmouth had a man on third three times, but did not have the punch to bring home the bacon. Dartmouth didn't get their first hit until the seventh, and with men on second and third their rally was cut short when Fons fanned McLaughlin.

With two out in the third, Savage got a free ticket to first, promptly stole second, and counted easily when Dohens cheered the huge crowd with a long double. This performance was nearly duplicated in the fifth when Savage singled, again pilfered second, and traveled to the plate on a single by Dohens. The final tally came in the eighth, when McEntee strolled, stole second, took third on Hurley's single, and romped home while Cahill was being tossed out at first.

PURPLE TENNIS TEAM LOSES TO AMHERST

The tennis team was defeated by Amherst in its first match of the season last Wednesday, 7-2, losing all of the doubles and four of the six singles matches. The match was played on slow courts during a continuous drizzle of rain.

Charles H. Phelan, '28, and Horace Kelly, '29, were the only ones to turn in victories, playing first and second singles respectively. Phelan was forced to three sets by Wyckoff, Amherst's left-handed No. 1 man, but his steadiness and placements finally brought him victory by the score 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, after trailing 4-0 in the initial set. Kelly had an easier time, defeating Hadley in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, although his usual speed was hampered by the poor playing condition of the courts.

Captain Daniel E. Reardon, '28, and Ed Scully, '27, came close to turning victories. Reardon was defeated only after a brilliant battle with Sears in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4. Scully, in the longest match of the afternoon, finally lost to Clark, 6-2, 1-6, 11-9, after coming from behind three times to force Clark to an extra set. Frank A. Reilly, '28, and Peter A. Igoe, '28, were defeated only because of lack of outdoor practice, and because of the weather conditions.

In the doubles matches, the Purple racquet wielders were outclassed, due to the fact that none of the three teams had ever paired together before.

Summary:

Singles: Phelan (H. C.) defeated Wyckoff (A) 4-6, 6-3, 6-4; Kelly (H. C.) defeated Hadley (A) 6-4, 6-2; Reardon (H. C.) lost to Sears (A) 6-3, 6-4; Reilly (H. C.) lost to Richardson (A) 6-3, 6-1; Scully (H. C.) lost to Clark (A) 6-2, 1-6, 11-9; Igoe (H. C.) lost to Wright (A) 6-2, 6-1.

Doubles: Reardon and Kelly (H. C.) lost to Bird and Freshman (A) 6-3, 6-3; Scully and Phelan (H. C.) lost to Clark and Richardson (A) 6-4, 6-3; Reilly and Igoe (H. C.) lost to Hadley and Wright (A) 6-3, 6-3.

Two matches are scheduled for this week. Tufts will visit here Thursday, and Springfield College will play here on Friday. Despite the Amherst loss, Capt. Reardon looks forward to two victories on these days.

NEXUS CLUB HEARS TALK ON RETAILING

Retailing Called a Science Demanding Trained Mind And Industry

ities, not only in a way satisfactory to their particular class of trade, but also at the minimum charge for such service.

"The community rightfully expects of the merchant not only full assortments of merchandise, but the best qualities obtainable for the price asked. In striving for this deal, the merchant may actually regard a purchase made by a customer as the giving in trust of money to be used in re-purchasing goods for the customer's account. It follows that the greater the volume of purchases made of any merchant, the greater must be the responsibility which he assumes in order to supply the public's wants with timely, satisfactory merchandise, subject to the minimum of overhead expense and the addition of a reasonable profit.

"Another obligation assumed by the retailer is that of telling the truth. The careless use of advertising has unfortunately led to a persistent practice of exaggeration and even of misstatement. Advertising which does not tell the truth, wherever its effect upon the immediate volume of sales, is a bad investment. Misstatement by word of mouth may, perhaps, be corrected, but a false statement printed in conjunction with the merchant's name can never be recalled."

"Modern retailing is a science. The gross profit on merchandise, according to figures compiled by the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, averages about thirty-one per cent. The cost of doing business roughly averages twenty-nine per cent, giving a margin of net profit of two per cent.

"Some large stores have special training courses confined to college graduates and there is a constantly growing demand for graduates of business administration schools in these large stores.

"There are at present more than 200 universities and colleges in the United States with business administration courses, and the young man who can take advantage of one of these courses receives a splendid preparation for business life. Harvard University at present has 800 business students in the wonderful buildings made possible by the $5,000,000 gift of George W. Baker, a partner of the House of Morgan.

"Retail management is one of the courses featured in these business schools, and they have contributed greatly to the principles and methods of retail management as we know it today. The research work of these schools furnish us with statistics that are of great value, and we look forward with keen anticipation to the results of surveys that are undertaken by them.

"Up to a comparatively few years ago it was unusual for a young man leaving college to look to the business world for his life's work. The so-called professions were the fields of his ambitions. Recent years, however, have brought about a realization that business is a profession, and for the young man with ability and energy there is unlimited opportunity, particularly in retail distribution.

"The college graduate, as a result of the training he has received, should be able to learn more readily and to appreciate the problems that call for solution. It is not the actual knowledge that is obtained in college that counts in business, but the character that is developed and the mental training that is gained.

"Clear thinking is needed in business, and college men are expected to be able to think.

"Naturally you are interested in the financial reward that goes with success in department stores. In the thousands of stores throughout the country there are men whose salaries exceed $100,000 a year. These are not common, but salaries from $25,000 to $50,000 are not uncommon. There are literally hundreds who receive from $10,000 to $25,000."

Catullus and Sappho" by Dr. Edith Frances Clafin of Rosemary Hall, followed. "A Horrible Example," the subject of Bernard M. Allen of the Roxbury School and "An Exploratory Course in General Language" by Mrs. Lloyd H. Bugbee of West Hartford, Conn., preceded a round table talk at which Prof. Charles D. Adams of Dartmouth led the discussion.

All members of the Association then adjourned to the Memorial Chapel where an organ recital was given by Prof. John P. Marshall.

At 8 o'clock in the evening the members of the Holy Cross Greek Academy presented a very successful performance of the English version of "Oedipus Tyrannus."

The second day of the convention opened with a lecture, "Some New Facts Regarding the Caesura in Latin Hexameter," by Prof. Philip B. Whitehead of the University of Vermont. Miss Ruth Witherstone of Smith College then spoke on, "A Study of the Canto." The other speakers of the morning were: Prof. Russell M. Geer, of Brown University "On the Theories of Dream Interpretation in Artemidorus;" Dr. Mary V. Braginton of Mt. Holyoke College on, "Some Aspects of the Supernatural in the Tragedies of Seneca;" and Prof. George L. Hendrickson of Yale University on "Oersius."

A luncheon for the Association guests was given at 12.30 by the College in the college dining hall at which Mayor Michael J. O'Hara of Worcester was speaker. Mrs. John J. Gibbons was official hostess assisted by Miss Helen Kelley.

The afternoon session was opened by Miss Marion B. Reid of Miss Hall's School with "A Book Review," followed by Prof. Charles H. Forbes of Phillips Academy on "Virgil's 'Bene of Ladies Bright.'" Prof. Forbes' talk closed the exercises of the convention after which the delegates attended the University of Vermont Holy Cross baseball game as guests of the College.

The Self-Government Association of Bryn Mawr College has carried a motion that no rule against Sunday tennis be included in their new resolutions. A motion that bridge be played in the public rooms on Sunday, however, was overwhelmingly defeated. Many of the halls have smoking rooms on the ground floor which are very conspicuously placed and it is feared that allowing bridge to be played on Sunday would give a bad impression to visitors.

"Speaking of fine tobaccos —Have a Camel!"

MODERN smokers find in Camels a nicety of blending, a friendly cordiality of flavor, an inherent goodness that thrills from the first puff to the last. That is why Camels are the favorite of the present age. The warmth of golden sunlight or autumn fields gleams in their smoke. Camels are the modern expression of all that is the finest.

Camel quality and Camel excellence are recognized wherever modern smokers gather. Particular smokers in this hard-to-please age find the best of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos blended in this famous cigarette. They find a consistent goodness that never fails, no matter how liberal the smoking.

And wherever modern smokers gather, wherever the conversation turns to tobacco, to the world's best, someone is sure to say:

"Speaking of fine tobaccos . . .
—Have a Camel!"
