Accepting a college education is one way to earn your way through college, but it is not the only way. Many students and recent graduates are turning to non-traditional pathways to finance their educations. Some are learning skills through job training programs, while others are earning money through part-time work or internships. Others are starting their own businesses or using crowdfunding platforms to fund their education. It's never too late to start earning money to pay for college, and there are many ways to do it. So if you're looking for ways to make money to pay for college, consider these options and start building your financial future today.
Dowling Scores Three Touchdowns As Oregon Opens Play In Second Half

A big lead, and a red one, came from the banks of the Old Barony, and the pair of the past two years at the half of Holy Cross, and for the first half looked as if they had finally won their first against another poor early season. But second half sent them back to Bruins with nothing more satisfying than an afternoon's exertion than the nursing a win of a perfect New England fall day. They had been out 39-0.

The name of Rutgers is a sore for the few remaining ones of Holy Cross who were second to Wisconsin by their lateral passing in early quarter which neither hit them points gain and for a time nearly threatened the Purple goal. Few they found themselves on their goal line Joe Drum, defensive fullback for the visitors, attempted a fourth field. The kick went into the line, however, and Rutgers' long punt of 65 yards placed them at a safe distance, and kept Rutgers for the remainder of the game.

In the first half the Cross looked up and only managed to score the end of that period after an injury had been severely penalized on them back to their 12-yard line is their open to open the end in which they could have used those red backs before playing near the side-stripe. A score was still allowed when Al Smith, after catching a long forward to the line, stepped out of bounds, but then the second half again, in the same way, it was evident that the Cross had wakened up and Dowling and the others started by tearing off for his second score of the day,13 from 12 yards. And here came the final play of the first half. After 14-yard pass Dowling had another, and before Dowling got up his second score.

This third fiasco was followed by the recovery of the point by Curtin, the outstanding man on the Purple squad this season.

RICHARD G. MAAS WINS KILLEN MEMORIAL CUP

The annual fall tennis tournament came to a close with the victory of Richard Maas, '20, over Arthur J. Laurninos, '20, in the final match for the college championship. The victor won his match in straight sets 6-4, 6-1, 6-1, taking the last point with a fast drive down the line. The match was closely contested throughout and was a fitting end to one of the best tournaments run on the Hill.

Laurninos, the senior champion finished his match with Hughes, the junior finalist, last Friday morning. winning 6-4, 7-5, 9-6, 6-1, and then Maas in the afternoon. Maas defeated Cyr, the freshman champion, the previous day 6-4, 6-1, 6-2 to earn the hard fought match. All the contestants who reached the semi-finals will be given a place on the Varsity squad.
